Upland, CA-- On behalf of the Inland Valley News, we'd like to congratulate the newly-elected and re-elected officials of the November 2015.

We can look forward to working with all of elected and newly-elected officials to make our schools, communities and our world a better place.

There is nothing that a community can't accomplish when they work together for the greater good. It is our hope and prayer that our newly-elected political leaders, both locally and nationally, work together for the good of our American society.

It is important that those who seek elected office know that they must be inclusive in their outreach and not underestimate any community's ability to assist them in getting elected or re-elected.

Never forget that voters in all communities vote for the person that they feel and believe would best represent their principles, interest and values.
